Synopsis

Join Guo as he figures out a way to give the familiar a new twist!

Guo's teacher gives his class a holiday assignment to do something different from what they are used to. Guo helps his grandfather at their family rojak stall every day, carrying out the same chores daily. What can he do that will be different, but still help his grandfather? Join Guo as he figures out a way to give the familiar a new twist!

About the Author

Emily Lim-Leh is a seasoned author with over forty children's books, including her bestselling four-book Toy series, which has been published in six countries. She is a three-time IPPY Award winner and the first south-east Asian recipient of the Moonbeam Children's Book Award.

About the Illustrator

For Alycia Teo what started as doodles in diaries and school notebooks has turned into a surprising art adventure. She has tried her hand at illustrating wedding invitations, painting murals, and conducting art workshops.
